- In Episode 5 of "Healing Revolution," Jonathan Otto focuses on toxic mold exposure, featuring experts Susan Russell and Lane Simmons. They talk about mold detection using "mold dogs" and why conventional inspections often fail.

- They also discuss hidden mold dangers in homes (walls, air filters) and EMFs accelerating mold growth by 600x, as well as mycotoxins' neurological effects (anxiety, depression) and Dr. Nuzum's insights on lymphatic/gut stagnation.

- In Episode 6, Otto explores environmental toxins and detoxification, as well as science-backed healing methods (e.g., reversing chronic injuries, detoxifying cells).

- Experts also discuss the links between EMFs (Wi-Fi, cell towers) and health risks like cancer/insomnia and hidden toxins in food, water and vaccines, plus steps to combat "cellular burnout."

Brighteon University is streaming an episode a day of "Healing Revolution" from June 7 to June 18, and a replay of all 12 episodes from June 19 to 22. Register here to dive into the root causes of today's most pressing health issues and the natural protocols that can reverse them.

What's in store for you in Episode 5

In Episode 5 of "Healing Revolution" slated for June 11, Jonathan Otto sits down with investigative journalist Susan Russell and mold detection expert Lane Simmons to expose the shocking truth about toxic mold — how it hides in plain sight and manipulates your brain, and why conventional inspections often miss it. Joined by leading functional medicine experts Dr. David Morcom and Dr. Daniel Nuzum, this episode uncovers the hidden truth about molds and mycotoxins.

Viewers can expect to learn a lot of things from Episode 5, including the following:

- How specially trained "mold dogs" sniff out hidden infestations, even microscopic traces, and why inexperienced handlers can misread critical alerts.

- Why mold doesn't need to be visible to wreak havoc — lurking behind walls, in toilets or even inside your air filters.

- A bombshell study reveals electromagnetic fields (EMF) may accelerate mold growth by 600x and how Wi-Fi towers and smart meters could be turning your home into a toxin factory.

- Dr. Morcom's chilling research on how mycotoxins mimic mental illness, causing anxiety, depression and "brain fog" by disrupting neurotransmitters and mitochondria.

- Why most treatments fail — Dr. Nuzum explains how a "clogged" lymphatic system and stagnant gut trap toxins indefinitely.

This isn't just about musty basements — it's a silent health crisis. Mold's mycotoxins are linked to chronic fatigue, hormone imbalances and neurological decline, yet most victims are misdiagnosed. If you've ever struggled with unexplained fatigue, mood swings or stubborn inflammation, this could be the missing link. The toxins won't leave on their own — but you can fight back.

What's in store for you in Episode 6

In Episode 6, slated for June 12, Otto tackles a groundbreaking exploration into the hidden dangers lurking in the modern world and the powerful, science-backed methods to reclaim your health. This episode dives deep into the urgent need for detoxification in today's toxic world. Featuring leading experts, shocking personal testimonies and revolutionary healing techniques, they reveal why governments and corporations won't warn you about environmental toxins and how to protect your family from hidden poisons in food, water and even vaccines.

Viewers can expect to learn a lot of things from Episode 6, including the following:

- How Darren healed a decades-old golf injury in days (and why kids can safely use it too).

- A cancer survivor's story and how this method pulls toxins from cells.

- How Wi-Fi, cell towers and even alarm clocks are linked to cancer and insomnia.

- Why a high-carb diet nearly destroyed his health—and how he reversed it.

- The step-by-step guide to fixing "cellular burnout" from toxins.

- The hidden earth radiation linked to ALS and cancer (and how to test your home).

In a world saturated with toxins — from the air you breathe to the food you eat — your body is under constant attack. Heavy metals, environmental pollutants and even everyday household products are silently sabotaging your health. But what if there was a way to fight back?
